Respecting Rights at School

Who has rights?

It is important that our rights are respected everywhere, including at school.

We all need to make sure we respect our own rights and the rights of others. Who else should respect your rights?

Respecting Rights at School

You have the right to be educated.

Your education should help you achieve your best and express your talents.

What talents do you have?

How can you make sure you are successful at school?

Respecting Rights at School

I have the right to play and relax. What are some of the ways you can relax?

I will respect this right by working hard in lessons, and playing and relaxing in my break times.

Respecting Rights at School

I have the right to play with other children.

I will respect this right by letting others play with me and join in with games and activities.

How else could you respect this right?

Respecting Rights at School

I have the right to share my views and say what I think, as long as it is legal and it does not harm anyone else or upset them.

I will respect this right by listening to others and respecting their views.

Respecting Rights at School

I have the right to a name.

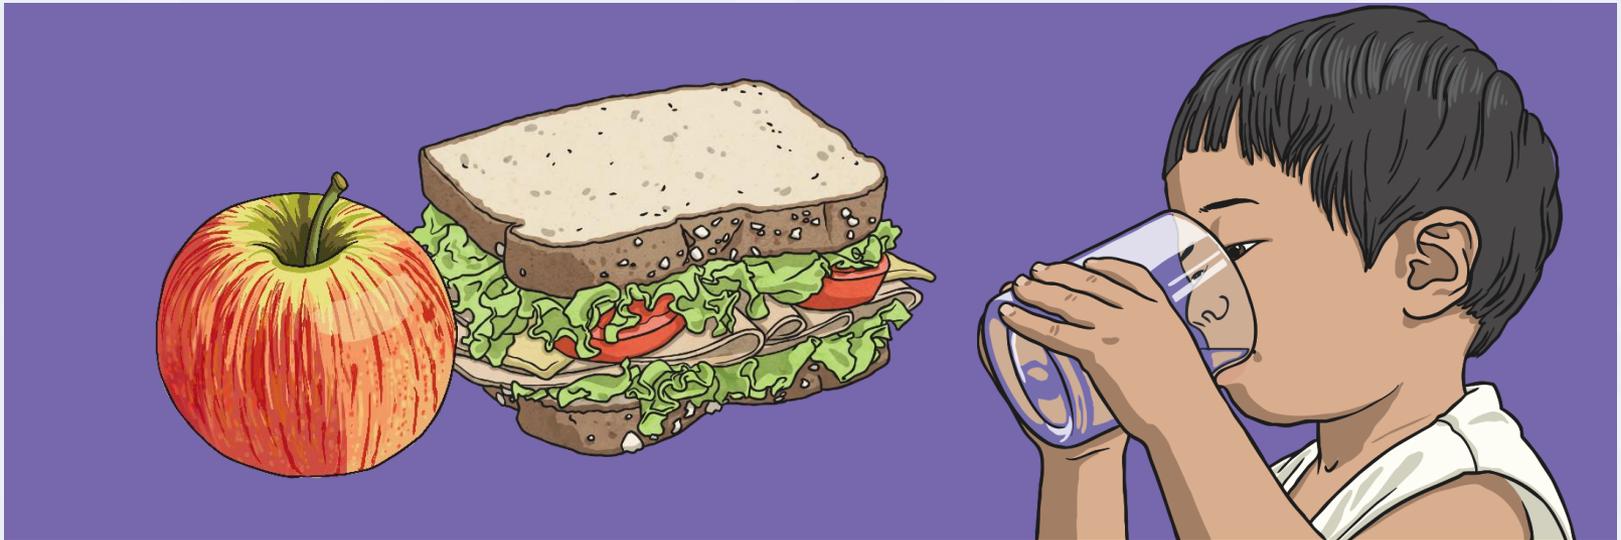

What are your names? What do you like to be called?

Respecting Rights at School

I have the right to be safe and healthy, with good quality healthcare, nutritious food and clean water.

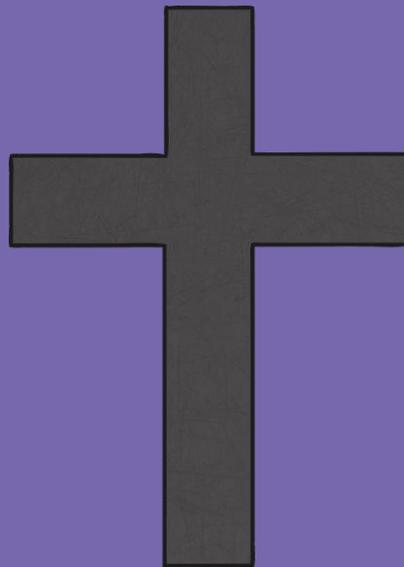

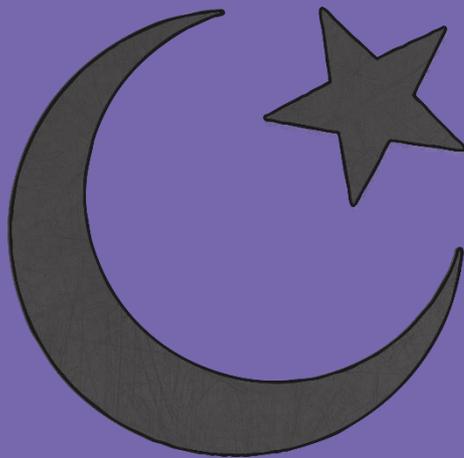

How can we help children who do not enjoy this right?

Respecting Rights at School

I have the right to believe what I choose, and to practise my religion.

I will respect this right by letting others believe what they choose, even if their beliefs are different to my own.

Respecting Rights at School

I have the right to information.

I will respect this right by looking for information that is appropriate and is not harmful to myself or others.

Respecting Rights at School

What other rights do we know?

What could you do to help ensure that all children enjoy their rights like you do?
